As a second hypothetical example, if the user's offer request is accepted and it is agreed to start accounting on 1 June 2023, then accounting will be done until 31 May 2024). Accounting is per container; for example, during this annual period the user could move a weekly average of 1,700 full cycle containers and 100 inter-terminal containers, which add up to a weekly average of 1,800 containers (which results in a weekly average of 3,500 movements; 3,400 full cycle movements and 100 inter-terminal movements). The average weekly count is calculated by taking into account the total number of transshipment containers moved during this annual period and is divided by the number of weeks in that period (which is 52 weeks). In case of containers that exceed the 14 days free of use of the operating area and the free pool of 300 TEU, the user will have to assume the payment of the tariff applicable from the 15th day onwards (subsections 1.2.6.4 and 1.2.7.4 of the Tariff List). However, if the user mobilizes more than 1,800 containers per week on average, APMTTC may extend, subject to space availability, the days of use of the operational area for those containers that remain more than 14 days and cannot access the free pool. The extension days would be up to seven days at most. If APMTTC grants this benefit to a user, it will be applied to other users under similar conditions.
